NI HAO! HOLA! BON JOUR! HELLO!

Allow us to introduce ourselves: We are MFINITY; and we are dedicated to creating high-quality modern products that reflect your modern lifestyle. We invite you to browse through our collection of architectural products and furnishings designed with the highest standards in mind.

The MFINITY line of products is the brainchild of Carib Daniel Martin, principal of Architecture Design And Production Tectonics (ADAPT).

Described by the Washington Post as “eloquent protests against the global status quo,” Carib’s work has been published internationally as well as displayed at the National Building Museum in Washington, DC and the National Centre of Craft and Design in Lincolnshire, UK.

Our world is in a constant state of flux; we live in a time where our home and work environments change almost yearly. We move for reasons based on family, school, work or personal economics. We are inundated with new technologies that require new spaces and new forms. The MFINITY line of products responds to this modern reality. Each product is made to the highest standards of quality and designed to evolve and move as your life demands.

We also believe that our planet is a precious and limited resource and safeguarding her environment is important to us. To do our part, we start with an eco-friendly design approach to all of our products. From the use of sustainable and recycled materials to low-energy fixtures and appliances to material and space efficient design, the MFINITY line of products was created to keep our world beautiful now and for generations to come.
